NOTES TO THE SEIZE QUARTIERS.

No. XXV, 2nd Series. William III.<sup>1</sup>

A 1 ; He was 2nd s. of John III, Count of Nassau Dillenburg, by Elizabeth, da. of Henry III, Landgrave of Hesse Marburg. A 2 ; She was widow of Philip II., Count of Hanau-Münzenberg (who d. 28 March 1529). Her mother was Anne, da. and eventually heir of Philip of Eppstein, Count of Königstein.<sup>2</sup> A 3 ; He was also Gov. and Lieut. Gen. of Paris, Ile-de-France, Picardy and Artois. His murder at the massacre on St. Bartholomew's day is a matter of history. He was 3d s. of Gaspard I., Seigneur de Coligny et de Châtillon-sur-Loing, Marshal of France, by Louise de Montmorency (widow of Ferry de Mailli, Baron de Conty) 1st da. of William, Baron de Montmorency. A 4 ; Her father, besides being Count of Laval in Maine, was Count of Montfort and of Quintin in Brittany, Baron de Vitré and Vicomte de Rennes. Her mother was his third wife, viz., Antoinette, da. of Jacques de Daillon, Seigneur du Lude in Anjou. A 5 ; He was only son of Philip, Count of Solms-Braunfels, by Anne, da. of Otho VIII., Count of Tecklenberg and sister of Conrad and of Otho IX., the last Counts of Tecklenberg.

A 7 ; He was eldest son of William, Count of Sayn-Wittgenstein, by Johanna, da. and coheir of Salentin, Count of Isenburg-Neumagen. There is some confusion about his two wives and their respective issue which is best solved as under :—"Ludovicus è duabus uxoris, quas ambas e Solmensi familia sibi delegerat ; et priorem quidem Annam è domo Braunfelsensi, alteram Elisabetham e Laubacensi, liberos xxi suscepit, quorum nomina, quæ in Tabula Rittershusiana maximam partem deficiunt, recensebo e genealogia, quam Cl. Lynkerus Jenensis Doctor, interveniente opera amici eruditissimi atque officiosissimi, mecum communicavit." (Imhoff Not. Imp.) A 8 ; Her mother was Jane, widow of Gaspard, Count of Mansfeldt da. of John, Count of Wied.

B 1 ; He took possession of the Principality of Orange by virtue of the testament (dat. 20 June 1544) of his cousin german, René of Nassau, Prince of Orange, who d. s.p., 1544. This René was son of Henry of Nassau (b. 12 Jan<sup>r</sup> 1483) brother of (A 1.) William, Count of Nassau-Dillenburg. René's claim to the Principality of Orange was, however, thro' his mother, Claude de Châlon, who was sister to Philibert, da. of Jean, son of William, son of Louis, all 4 being Princes of Orange, the said Louis being son of Jean de Châlon, by Marie de Raux (d. 1417) who was suo jure Princess of Orange. The claim of William of Nassau, who did not descend from any of the former Princes of Orange, to that Principality was disputed by the Duc de Longueville, a descendant of <sup>1</sup> The information as to the families of Nassau, Stolberg, Coligny, Solms and Sayn-Wittgenstein has been kindly supplied by Mr. G. W. Watson, whose "Notes on the foreign coats in Planche's Roll of Arms" testify to his extensive knowledge of foreign genealogy.

Jean de Châlon, by Marie de Baux, suo jure Princess of Orange above-named. The duke obtained some decrees in his favour, but the position of William of Nassau as the head of the Republic of Holland, doubtless induced King Henry II. of France to recognise him as Prince of Orange which he did by the treaty of Château Cambrensis in 1559.

The style of William, Prince of Orange was as under :—“GUILLAUME par la grace de Dieu, Prince d'Orange, Comte de Nassau, de Catzenellebogen, de Vianden, de Dietz, de Bueren, de Leerdam, etc, Seigneur & Baron de Breda, de Diest, de Grimberghes, d'Arlay, de Nozeroy &c. Vicomte hereditaire d'Anvers, & Besançon, Gouverneur de Brabant, d'Hollande, Zeelande, Westfrize, & Utrecht, Lieutenant General du Serenissime Prince Mathias par la grace de Dieu Archiduc d'Austriche, Duc de Bourgogne etc, Gouverneur et Capitaine General pour sa Majesté des Pays-Bas et pardeça,—A tous ceux” etc etc. .... donné à Anvers ce 2<sup>e</sup> de Janvier, L'an M.CCCCC & LXXX.”—Signed “Guillaume de Nassau.”

B 2 ; Her first husband perished (with her Father) 24 Aug 1572 at the massacre on St Bartholomew's day. B 3 ; He was one of 14 children. B 4 ; The probability is in favour of her name being “Agnes” but she is called “Elizabeth” by Imhoff and others : perhaps she had both names. She had a sister named “Elizabeth” and another named “Anne-Elizabeth.” C 1 ; There are several common errors about this personage : e.g. the date of his succession as 22 [sh<sup>d</sup> be 23] April 1625 and of his death as 14 May [sh<sup>d</sup> be March] 1647, also the styling him “Henry Frederic” instead of “Frederic Henry.” He is called Henry-Fred<sup>c</sup> by Moreri, by Imhoff, by Rittershusius in his Brev. Exeq., and by Meteren in the huge folio of 1440 pages which he devotes to the hist. of the Pays-bas, 1415—1611. L'Art de verifier les Dates, however, points out that his real name was FRED<sup>c</sup> HENRY, and so in effect he called himself : see extract below from another source :—“FREDERIC-HENRY par la grace de Dieu Prince d' Orange, Comte de Nassau, Catzenellebogen, Dietz, Lingen, Moers, Bueren, Leerdam, &c., Marquis de la Vere, et de Flessingues, Sr. et Baron de Breda, de la Ville de Grave, et du pais de Cuick, Diest, Grimbergues, Herstal, Cranendoncq, Warneston, Arlay, Nozeroye, S. Vyt, Daesburch, l'olaenen, Willemstadt, Nieuwarde, Yselstein, S. Martensdijck, Gertruydenberg, Chasteau-Regnard, de haut et bas Swalves, de Naeltwyck, &c, Vicomte hereditaire d'Anvers et de Bezançon, Mareschal hereditaire de Hollande, Gouverneur de Gueldres, de Hollande, Zeelande, Westfrise, Zutphen, Utrecht & Overyssel, & Cap.<sup>re</sup> & Admiral General des Provinces Unies—à tous” etc etc.—“Donné au camp à Wynen le 8 d'Octobre MDCXXVI.”

C 2 ; She was one of 10 children.

No. XXIX, 2nd Series. George I. An elaborate engraving of the Seize Quartiers of George I., with all the Arms etched, was published in 1749 by Sir Thomas Brand, Gent. Usher of the Green Rod and Gent. Usher daily waiter to their Majesties Geo. the 1st and 2nd. A copy thereof, made by Francis Townsend (Windsor Herald, 1784-1819), is among his MSS., now in the private collection of the College of Arms, London, in a book marked “F. T., Q. I., p. 216, &c.” Tho' a very pretty genealogical achievement it is wanting in dates and not altogether very reliable, e.g., the mother of (B. 3) Louis V., Landgrave of Hesse

Darmstadt, is given as "Eleanora, da. of the Duke of Wurtemberg", (his father's second wife, who had one child only, a boy, who d. aged 11) instead of as "Magdalen of Lippe." Mr. G. W. Watson (who, again, has kindly assisted towards these seize-quarters) remarks on it that "it is a pity Mr. Towasend ever plucked such a Brand from the burning."

It is to be noted that of the sixteen immediate ancestors of George I, no less than thirteen are German, or Danish; two are Scotch (of the house of Stuart) and one (A. 12) is French, viz. Charlotte of Bourbon. Thro' this Lady he is descended from LOUIS IX, King of France, from whom she was ninth in direct male descent, being da. of [L] Louis, Duke of Montpensier (d. 1582), who was s. and h. of [2] Louis, Prince de la Roche-sur-yon, (d. 1520), who was 2<sup>d</sup>. s. of [3] Jean, Count de Vendosme (d. 1471), who was s. and h. of [4] Louis, Count de Vendosme (d. 1446), who was 2<sup>d</sup>. s. of [5.] Jean, Count de la Marche (d. 1393), who was s. and h. of [6] Jacques, Count de la Marche (d. 1361), who was 3<sup>d</sup>. s. of [7] Louis, duke of Bourbon (d. 1342), who was s. and h. of [8] Robert de Bourbon (d. 1317) who was 6th s. of [9] Louis IX, King of France above-named.

A 1, He was second son of Henry, Duke of Brunswick (d. 1532) by Margaret, da. of Ernest, Elector of Saxony. He acquired Luneburg from his elder brother, Otto, in exchange for Harburg. A. 2; Sophia's mother Ursula, was da. of John, Elector of Brandenburg. A. 12; It is agreed that Charlotte of Bourbon, the 3d wife of the Prince of Orange, was mother of (B. 6) Louisa Juliana; Anne of Saxony, her predecessor, the 2d wife of that Prince, having been "sent home" sometime before her death on 18 Dec. 1577. This Charlotte, who was Abbess of Jöüare, renounced her vows in 1572, and m. at Brielle 12 June 1574 (others say 10 June, 1575) the Prince of Orange, whom she predeceased, at Antwerp, 6 May 1682, making way for the Prince's fourth and last wife, Louisa de Coligni (No. XXV, 2nd series, B 2) the great grandmother of William III. of England. C 1; He was one of a family of (besides 8 daughters) 7 sons who agreed (so as to preserve their patrimony entire) that one only should marry, the privilege of so doing falling to his lot.

NOTES TO THE SEIZE QUARTIERS.

No. XXX, 2nd Series. Sophia Dorothea of Zell.<sup>1</sup>

A 9; The Seigneurs d'Olbreuze (a cadet branch issuing in the 15th century from the Seigneurs of Obroire, claiming descent from Foucault Desmier, Seigneur de l'Obroire, 1082) were among the earliest and most constant supporters of the Huguenot party, in which cause they suffered greatly. The chateau d'Olbreuze, in Poitou, is near Ussau, between Niort and Rochelle. The first printed notice of this family is apparently the "Histoire general de la maison de Desmier, par L'Abbé Le Laboureur, Angoulême, 1709," given by La Chenaye Desbois in the "Dictionnaire de la Noblesse," Tom. v. pp. 574-582. A more copious (and more correctly spelt) pedigree is given in the "Dictionnaire historique et généalogique de l'ancien Poitou, par Beauchet-Filleau, Poitiers; Dupré, 1840-1854," Tom. ii. p. 23, which last has here been followed.

(A 13 to A 16, and B 5 to B 8). The pedigree in the text (other than that within brackets) is that given according to one version, (Tom. ii, 548-549) by Filleau (see, as to his work, the remarks on A 9 next above) who states it to be according to M. de Courcelles in his genealogy of Montalembert. This account agrees with the contemporary Seize Quartiers of Sophia Dorothea (then duchess of Brunswick-Luneburg) made by Van Bassen (see p. 47 of this work and note 2 thereon) in 1684, as also with the well known Genealogist, Imhoff, who speaks of Jacqueline Poussard as "de Vandre." See quotations (in the remarks on D 2) below. Filleau, however, gives (in the same place) another and an entirely different version, viz. that placed in this text within brackets, and (tho' himself a Poitevin, and, as such, well cognisant of the pedigrees of the families of Poitou) does not attempt to decide in favour of either. He states that he has been aided by the labours of D'Hozier, and has completed the genealogy with documents contained in his own cabinet. In the "Armorial general de la France ou Registre de la Noblesse de France," by the celebrated D'Hozier (10 vols., folio 1738-68) this last named version is adopted, as it also is practically by Desbois (see as to his work, the remarks on A 9 next above) who calls the wife of Alexander Desmier "Jacquette Poussard du Vigeau [Vigeau], dame de Forts [Fors]," inasmuch as "Fors and Vigeau belonged to that branch of the Poussard family, of which Daniel Poussard (s. of Charles P., Seigneur de Fors) was a member.

A 13; Jean Poussard was s. and h. of René Poussard, Seigneur de Bas Vandre et de St. Marc by Jacqueline (m. 4 Sep. 1541), 15th child of Philippe de Barbezieres, Seigneur de Barbezieres et d'Estrades. See "Nobiliaire de Guiene et de Gascogne" by M. O'Gilvy, continued by J. de Bourrousse de Laffore (4 vols. 4to, 1858-1883) where (vol. I., p. 375) in the elaborate and original pedigree of Barbezieres, the descent of Eleanor Desmier (duchess of Zell) from this match is deduced; thus confirming the first version given in the text.

[A 13; Charles Poussard was Maître d'hotel et Panetier ordinaire of the King of France: Capt. of Bellême 10 May 1540, and afterwards Gov. of Dieppe and Vice-Admiral of the Coasts of Normandy. This Charles (who d. 1584, aged 80) was 1st son of Jean Poussard, Seigneur de Fors, by Catharine da. of Francois Gasteuil, Seigneur de St. Trojean.]

[A 14; Jean Girard, Seigneur de Bazôges, Guignardiere, Frozes, et Anguitard, of an ancient house in Poitou, d. 1563, leaving two daughters and coheirs. viz. :—(1) Marguerite, as in the text, and (2) Claude, who m. 10 May 1557, Henry de Grouches. Their mother was Valentine, da. and coheir of Bertrand l'Orfevre, Seigneur d'Ermenonville, by Valentine l'Huillier de Manicamp, dame de Cramoyau in Brie.<sup>1</sup>]

A 15; The name is probably Goullard (an ancient family of Poitou and Saintonge), and it is so given by Filleau in his pedigree of Poussard; he, however, in his pedigree of Goullard, relegates this Lancelot to the 'noms isolés,' not affiliating him. It is, however, possible that the name should be Gaillard (a different family from that of Goullard), and this theory is supported by a statement of O'Gilvy that Pierre de Barbezières married a da. of Lancelot Gaillard, Seigneur de St. Disant.<sup>2</sup> A third alternative is suggested by Van Bassen, who calls this Lancelot "Landseler de Gaillard, Lord of Espihillaire," meaning, doubtless, l'Espichelière in Maine, possessed by the family of Gaillard of the Gâtinais and Maine. This last named family claimed to be descended from St. Hubert, and to have derived from him the power to cure madness. They are treated of by Dom Morin in his history of the Gâtinais.

A 16; The parentage of Jaquette de l'Isle is not given by Filleau. She is described by Van Bassen as "Jaquette Dumas, da. to the Lord of Isle S. Agnar and Condoniaux," in which case she would have been da. of Jean Dumas, Seigneur de l'Isle, in Berry, by Honorade (m. 27 Dec. 1542) da. and heir of Francois de Castellane, Seigneur D'Allemagne in Provence. No such daughter, however, of Jean Dumas is in the pedigree of Dumas, in Anselme, Tom. VIII, p. 899, or in Desbois, Tom. IX, p. 584-5.

D 2; An interesting account of the whole career of this Lady is given in a work entitled "Une Mesalliance dans la Maison de Brunswick" by Vicomte Horric de Beaucaire; Paris, 1884. The text of the act of the "mariage de conscience" is given on p. 45, whereby the Duke promises to be constant to her and settles a dower on her. Of this act the Duke's sister-in-law, Sophia (the mother of George I.) wrote 2 April 1667, "Les plus devots jugent que son attachment est un mariage devant Dieu" adding sarcastically "j'aime mieux que ce soit devant Lui, que devant les Hommes." Her questionable situation did not, however, preclude her from receiving shortly before her ("devant les hommes") marriage L'Ordre de la Vertu" from the Empress consort.

The "date des fiançailles" is given as 10 Dec. 1675 by Koehler, in his "Historische Münzbelustigungen." Beaucaire writes (p. 63) "Entre deux opérations de guerre, les sièges de Bremervorden et de Stade, (villes Suédoises de L'Evêché de Brême) la cérémonie religieuse fut célébrée, en présence du duc Antoine-Ulric et du Chancelier Schutz." It appears, however, not to have been made public till the next year, and on 24 April 1676, the name of Eleanor was first associated with her husband's in the church prayers, and the title of "Highness" attributed to her. Imhoff (in his contemporary work) thus writes of this match "Ascivit Georgius Wihelmus in thorum viraginem [sic] imparis quidem conditionis, sed omnibus animi corporisque dotibus fulgentissimam; neque nullius prosapiæ, quippe e vetusta Pictaviensium in Gallia nobilitate ortam, Eleanoram Desmiers, Alexandri, domini ab Olbreuze, et Jacobinæ Poussard de Vaudre gnatam, Alexandri I (qui Subizii ducis, in bello Huguenotico Legatus fuit atque in Medulensi pago cum filio primogenito Johanne cæsus est) neptem. Ea, domina de Harburg initio dicta fuit, nunc vero Principibus fæminis æquiparata est."

No. XXXII. 2nd Series. Caroline of Anspach. Stated by Imhoff to have been named "Wilhelmina Charlotte" but in the "L'Art de vérifier les dates" as "Wilhelmina Dorothea Charlotte."

NOTES TO THE SEIZE QUARTIERS.

No. XXXIV, 2nd Series. Charlotte of Mecklenburg-Strelitz.

A 1; He was elder surv. son of John Albert, Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin by Anne Sophia, da. of Albert I, Duke of Prussia. A 2; The date of her marriage, in "L'art de ver. les dates," is 13 May 1585, Her mother was Christina, da. of Philip the Magnanimous, Landgrave of Hesse. A 3; He was eldest son of Henry, Duke of Brunswick-Dannenberg, by Ursula, da. of Francis, Duke of Saxe-Lauenburg. A 4; Her mother was Catharine, da. of Gustavus I, King of Sweden. "Genealogists, in their pedigrees of Brunswick, are unanimous in calling Maria, da. of Enno III, Count of Oost-Frise. The same writers, however, in their pedigrees of Oost-Frise, are equally unanimous in calling her da. of Edzard II (called otherwise III or V), father of the above Enno; that the latter version is right dates shew."<sup>1</sup> A 5; He was 2nd surv. son of Christian Gunther, Count of Schwarzburg-Arnstadt, by Anne Sibylla, da. of Albert, Count of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt. A 6; Her mother, the first wife of her father, was Dorothea, da. of Otho, Count of Solms-Sonnenwald. A 7; He was elder son of Justus, Count of Barby, by his second wife, Sophia, da. of Albert, Count of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt above mentioned. A 8; Her mother was Sibylla Elizabeth, da. of Henry, Duke of Brunswick-Dannenberg. A 11; He was 2nd surv. son of Wolrath IV, Count of Waldeck-Wildungen, by Anne, only child of James of Baden-Dourlach, Margrave of Hochberg. The following account of him (the first Prince of the house of Waldeck) is given by Imhoff;

"DE PRINCIPE WALDECCIO. Incluto Heroi, in præsidium pariter et ornamentum patriæ genito, Georgio Frederico Waldeccio hunc inter Principes locum merito mihi videor tribuere: quis enim est adeo recentium incuriosus? ut nesciat eum noviter anno scilicet 1686. d. 1.º Nov. in comitiis Ratisbon à scarno Comitum in Senatum Principum translocatum, ibique ad votum et sessionem admissum esse, postquam a. 1682 a Leopoldo Cæsare per Diploma Laxenburgi d. 17 Jun, e. a. datum Princeps S.R. Imperii creatus fuisset: quo temporis tractu, aut non ita multo ante ab Imperii membris, annuente etiam, imo urgente Augustissimo capite, delectibus pro securitate patriæ conservanda factis præfectus, et Supremi in Imperio Campi Marescalli (Reichs Feld-Marschalln) axiomate decoratus fuit; est quippe in eo cum summa peritia belle gerendi et tuendi ae regendi exercitus, militarisque disciplinæ, tum singularis prope prudentia, longo maximarum rerum usu acquisita; præterea animus magnus atque intrepidus, labore, vigilia, periculo invictus, et quod caput est, pulcro honesto ac publici egregii Zelo inflammatus: denique morum dulcedo et suavitas, et adversus tribunos Officialesque suos æqua ac par sui æstimatis pene inimitabilis; quarum virtutum egregia per Europam edidit documenta, inprimis apud Batavos, ubi Ordinum Fæderatorum exercitum ductabat, iterumque ductat, ex quo res Imperii militaris, bene tunc constituta, per simulacrum pacis Neomag. collapsa est, et deinde reintegrato bello in illam, qua nunc maximo reipublicæ damno laborat, ἀραξίαν degeneravit.

. . . . . Princeps Waldeccius vitam egregiè actam et ad gloriosam senectam perductam finivit in arce sua Arolsen d.  $\frac{9}{9}$  November, 1692."

His full style was as follows: George Frederic, Prince of Waldeck, Count of Pyrmont and Culemborg: Free Baron in Pallant, Witten, Werth and Willdenburg: Dynast in Linden, Kinsweiler, Engeldorf, Frechem, Bachum, Dalem, etc: Master of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem throughout Brandenburg, Saxony, Pomerania and Mecklenburg: Prebost of the Cathedral of Halberstadt: Field Marshal for the Emperor, for the confederated Circles of the Empire, and for the States General of the Batavian Republic, and Governor of Utrecht.

A 12; Her mother was Christina, da. of George, Count of Erbach. A 13; He was 4th son (his elder brothers dying without male issue) of George, Count of Erbach, by his 4th wife, Maria (widow of Josias Count of Waldeck) da. of Albert, Count of Barby. A 14; Her mother was Dorothea Sophia, da. of Herman Adolphus, Count of Solms Hohensolms. A 15; He was the eldest surv. son of his father (being brother to A 11) and was heir to Florent II, the last Count of Culemborg in Gueldres, who d. s. p., which Count was s. and h. of Count Florent I and br. of Elizabeth, wife of James, Margrave of Hochberg above-named (See note to A 11) and maternal grandmother of the said Philip Theodore.

B 1; The date of his birth, according to Rittershusius was 4 (not 15) Dec. B 4; Her only brother, Augustus Ludwig (b. 5 Aug. 1639) d. unum. 17 Oct 1659, being the last male of his family, B 7; His three elder brothers died without male issue.

No. XXXVI, 2nd Series. Caroline of Brunswick-Wolfenbittel,

A 1; He was youngest son of Augustus, Duke of Brunswick-Wolfenbittel, being by his third wife, Sophia Elizabeth, da. of John Albert, Duke of Mecklenburg. A 2; Her mother was Eleanor Catherine (m. 1646) da. of John Casimir of Zweibruck, Palatine of Kleeburg. A 3; He was second son of Antony Ulric, Duke of Brunswick Wolfenbittel (elder br. of the half blood, to A 1) by Elizabeth Juliana, da. of Frederic, Duke of Holstein Nordborg. The Comté of Blanckenberg was erected into a Principality, in his favour, in 1707, by the Emperor Joseph. The King of Great Britain ceded him, during his life, his quality of Electeur. He suc. his elder brother, Augustus William (who d. s. p.) as Duke of Brunswick Wolfenbittel, 23 March 1731, but d. 4 years subsequently, at Brunswick. A 4; Her mother, the first wife of her father, was Christina Frederica, da. of Eberhard III, Duke of Wurtemberg. A 5; He was eldest surv. son and heir of Frederic William, Elector of Brandenburg and Duke of Prussia, by his first wife Louisa Henrietta, da. of Henry Frederic, Prince of Orange. B 1. He was a General in the Imperial army. It is to be noted that he inherited the Duchess of Brunswick-Wolfenbittel, on the death of his father-in-law, 1 March 1735, not in consequence of his marriage, but in his own right, as being then the heir male to his grandfather, Augustus, Duke of Brunswick-Wolfenbittel (d. 1666), the father of A 1, and grandfather of A 3. He enjoyed the dignity but six months.

No. XXXVIII, 2nd Series. Adelaide of Saxe Meiningen.<sup>1</sup>

A 3; He was elder br. (of the half blood) of Ferdinand Albert, Duke of Brunswick Bevern, being s. of Augustus, Duke of Brunswick Wolfenbittel, by his second wife, Dorothy, da. of Rudolph, Prince of Anhalt-Zerbst. A 4; Her mother, the second wife of her father, was Eleanor, da. of Rudolph, Prince of Anhalt-Zerbst above-mentioned, A 5; He was son of William, Landgrave of Hesse Cassel, by Hedwig Sophia, da. of George William, Elector of Brandenburg. A 7; He was son of John George, Duke of Saxe Eisenach, by Johanetta, da. of Ernest, Count of Sayn. A 8; Her mother was Anne Sophia, da. of Antony Ulric, Duke of Brunswick-Wolfenbittel (A 3), by Elizabeth Juliana (A 4) his wife. A 9; He was son of Henry Frederic, Count of Hohenlohe Langenburg (b. 5 Sep. 1625; d. 2 June 1699) by his second wife Juliana Dorothea, da. of Wolfgang George, Count of Castel Remlingen. A 10; Her mother was Eleanora Clara, da. of Crato, Count of Hohenlohe Neuenstein.

C 1; The difference of above 42 years between him and his second wife is remarkable; a somewhat parallel case occurs in the Seize Quartiers (No. XXXII, 2nd Series) of Caroline, Queen Consort of George II, where John George, Elector of Brandenburg (A 1) b. 1525 is 38 years older than his third wife (A 2) Elizabeth of Anhalt, b. 1563. This Antony Ulric, Duke of Saxe Meiningen, m. firstly in 1713 Philippina Cesarina, called "a learned woman of Cassel" who was b. in 1684, being thus 3 years older than her husband and 45 years older than her successor. She who was "of unequal rank" (being da. of a Captain in the Hessian Army named Schurman) was with her children raised, in 1728, to the rank of Prince of the Empire, but (according to "Les Souverains du monde," 1734) "cependant sur les remonstrances faites par les ducs de Saxe, ils ne doivent plus se qualifier que Comtes d'Empire." Of her three sons all died without issue, the eldest and last survivor, Bernard Ernest, dying 14 June, 1778, when his next surv. brother (of the half blood) Augustus Frederic Charles William, became heir of his father, on whose death, without issue, 21 June 1782, his next brother (D 1) George Frederic Charles, became the reigning Duke of Saxe Meiningen. ## NOTES TO THE SEIZE QUARTIERS.

No. XL., 2nd Series. Prince Albert of Saxe Coburg and Gotha.

(A 1). He was 4th but 2nd surv. son of John Ernest, Duke of Saxe-Saalfeld (d. 24 Feb. 1729, aged 70) being by his second wife, Charlotte Joanna, da. of Josias, Prince of Waldeck. He reigned jointly with his elder brother (of the half blood) Christian Ernest, till the death of the latter, s.p., in 1745. Their father, the said John Ernest, was the 7th son of Ernest (the Pious), Duke of Saxe Gotha and Elizabeth Sophia, his wife, great-great-grandparents of King George III. (No. XXXIII., 2nd Series, A 9 and A 10), and ancestors (consequently), one generation further back, to (his niece) Caroline, Queen Consort to King George IV. (No. XXXVI., 2nd Series), being also great-great-grandparents (the same generation as they were to her husband's father, George III.) to Adelaide, Queen Consort to King William IV. (No. XXVIII, 2nd Series, A 1 and A 2).

(A 2). She was one of 13 children. Her mother was Anne Sophia 1st da. of Frederick I., Duke of Saxe Gotha by Magdalena Sibylla, his wife, great grandparents of King George III. (No. XXXIII., 2nd Series, B 5 and B 6).

(A 5). He was son and heir of Henry X, Count of Reuss-Ebersdorf (b. 29 Nov. 1662 and d. 10 July 1711) by Erdmuth Benigna (b. 13 April 1670 and m. 29 October 1694) da. of John Frederic, Count of Solms-Laubach. An interesting account is given in "Les Souverains du monde" (1734) vol. iii. pp. 104-119, of the family of Reuss, a name therein stated to have been taken by Henry, Provost of Plauen, from his having been taken captive in the Holy Land by a Saracen, who sold him to a merchant of Russia, from which country, after 12 years captivity, he escaped, in 1240, "habillé à la Russe, ou Réusse." The above account is also given by Peter Beckler in his Genealogy of the house of Reuss tho' others state that the name was first assumed by Henry (this Henry's ancestor) the 2nd son of Henry the Rich (hereafter mentioned) or (according to some) by a certain Seigneur of Plauen living in 1115. The very early period of time at which the family began to be called Advocates, is indicated by Alb. Cranzius (Saxon. lib. ix. c. 52) as follows "Terra est Advocatorum non longe a Saxoniam superiore, quam primus Heinricus, Romanorum Rex, [Emperor of Germany, 918-936] subjecit Monasterio Dominarum in Quedlinburg; constituent quatuor per terræ angulos totidem Advocatos nobiles, qui Barones dicuntur, de Wyda, de Gera, de Russe [Graitz? et] de Plauen." It is not improbable that in memory of this gift from the Emperor Henry, the Fowler, all the males of this race were thenceforth named Henry; it is certain that the 4 sons of Henry the Rich, "anno domini 1193, Dominus de Wyda et totius terræ Advocatus" (Paul Lange, Monk of Bozan near Zeitz in Misn<sup>a</sup>, in chronico Ziticensi 968-1515, p. 791, edit. Pistor, 1583) were all so named as was their posterity ever afterwards. The commonly received tradition, however, is that the name of Henry was given them by their mother, Bertha, Countess of Tyrol, to commemorate her relationship to Henry VI., Emperor of Germany, 1190 to 1198. As to this conjecture (on which the Monk of Bozan is silent) no connection is known between Engilbert who in 1193 was Count of Tyrol, and the Imperial house of Hohenstauffen. It was not till 1282 that the Counts of Tyrol became connected with the Emperors of the House of Austria. Each of the 4 sons of Henry the Rich inherited one of the 4 Baronies or Provostships above mentioned, but the line of Graitz became extinct in 1236, that of Weida in 1535, and that of Gera in 1550, leaving that of Plauen alone remaining, of which line was Henry the Pacific (living in the middle of the 16th century) ancestor of all of the numerous existing branches of the Reuss family.

The numbering of these various individuals all alike named Henry is a matter of great intricacy. It is stated in the "Encyclop. Brit." (last edit.) that in the elder (Greiz) line it begins again (de novo) when No. 100 is reached, while that in the younger line (Schleiz) opens and closes with the century. This, as regards the present day, may be correct, but is certainly not so historically. As to the senior line which became divided in the 3rd generation, reckoning the said Henry the Pacific as the first, the numbering seems to have been separate in each "brood" (if one may use that term) till the 6th generation (births from 7 Aug. 1649 to 4 Oct. 1678), which was numbered (VI. to XVI.) throughout, the survivors in the previous generation being (possibly) reckoned as Henry I. to V. In the 7th generation of this line the numbers again recommenced, while (so far from the numbers recommencing when No. 100 is reached) Henry, b. 20 March, 1878, is numbered as only XXIV.—As to the junior line, which first became split up in the 5th generation, on the same principle of reckoning, the numbering of that generation as given by Rittershusius (1664) is totally different from that given by Imhoff (1693) and others, shewing that, at first, each "brood" was numbered separately and that, at some date between 1664 and 1693 (this system no doubt leading to some confusion), the numbering was changed so as to proceed continuously, irrespective of brood, in order of birth. This generation (No. 5) was then, according to the new system, numbered, together with the next generation (No. 6) in strict order of birth (26 March 1639 to 11 July 1699) the numbers extending from I. to XXIX. In the next generation (No. 7) the numbering began again on the same system, (Henry b. 1695 in that generation being called Henry I., while Henry, b. subsequently, viz., in 1699 in the previous generation was called Henry XXIX.) and such numbering was carried on without a break till the close of the 18th century. At the commencement of the 19th century it again began, but this time, no priority was given to the previous generation, e.g. Henry, b. 1855, was numbered as XXIII., while his uncle Henry, b. 1868 was numbered as XXXI.<sup>1</sup>

This family deduces its descent, in the male line, from Elimar I., Count of Oldenburg, s. and h. of Hojo, a Frisian, Lord of Pottenburg and Memmenburg in Frisia, by Rixa, da. of John, Count of Oldenburg (1017), and aunt of Frederic, the last Count of Oldenburg of the house of Ringelheim, said to have been descended in the male line from Witikind the Great, Duke of Saxony. Elimar I. was ancestor of the succeeding Counts of Oldenburg (1120 to 1440) of whom, the ninth in descent from him, was Theodoric (Dietrich) the Fortunate, who d. 1440, leaving by Hedwig, heiress (1459), of Sleswick-Holstein (da. of Gerard, Duke of Sleswick,<sup>2</sup> Count of Holstein, &c.), a son and heir, Christian, who received the Duchy of Holstein from the Emperor, and who became Christian I., King of Denmark (1448), Norway (1450), and subsequently (1457) of Sweden (b. 1426, d. 1481) whose 4th s. (B. 4) She was sister, of the whole blood, to Christian VII., King of Denmark, 1766-1808 (the father of Frederic VI, King of Denmark, 1808 to 1839), and sister, of the half blood, to Frederic, Prince of Denmark (B. 7) the father of Christian VIII., King of Denmark (1839-48), who was father of Frederic VII, King of Denmark, 1848 to 1863, on whose death, s.p., 15 Nov. 1863, the line of Kings descended from Frederic III., eldest son of Christian III., (who reigned from 1534 to 1559) became extinct, and the crown passed to Christian IX., 8th in male descent from John, Duke of Sleswick-Holstein-Sonderborg the 3d son of the said Christian III. See A 1 It is to be observed that, though (in 1863), when the extinction of the elder line of the house of Oldenburg took place, the Crown of Denmark had been upwards of four centuries in that family, the succession thereto, which had been elective from the earliest times, was not rendered hereditary, by right, until the year 1660.

(B. 7). He was elected Coadjutor of the Bishopric of Lubeck, 4 Dec. 1756. It is to be remarked that this Bishopric "since 1586, had been occupied by princes of the ducal house of Holstein. The zeal with which they opposed the secularisation of this Church induced the Chapter to engage, in 1747, with the Bishop, John of Holstein, to choose successively 6 bishops from his line."<sup>1</sup>

SEIZE QUARTIERS

OF

(PRINCESS VICTORIA MARY OF TECK)

AND OF

CLAUDINE RHÉDEY, COUNTESS OF HOHENSTEIN,

HER PATERNAL GRANDMOTHER.

As a supplement to the second series of the Seize Quartiers of the Sovereigns of this realm and their Consorts, which (commencing with Henry VII, the first King of the house of Tudor, and concluding with the present Queen, the late Prince Consort, and the Prince and Princess of Wales) have already been given in The Genealogist (Vols. vi to ix, N.S.), the Seize Quartiers of H.R.H. the Duchess of York (Princess Victoria Mary of Teck) are here given, inasmuch as she, in the natural course of events, is likely to occupy a place among such Queen Consorts. Thanks are due, as on former occasions, to Éduard Von Fehrentheil und Gruppenberg, Major A.D.

To this is added the Seize Quartiers of the Duchess's paternal grandmother, Claudine Rhédey, Countess of Hohenstein, wife (tho' the marriage was a morganatic one) to Alexander, Duke of Wurtemberg, which addition has been made because the materials from which it is compiled are so little available, that it seems desirable to place on record the information therein contained. The following extract from a letter of Mr. Josef Klemme, Librarian to the Foreign Office at Vienna (dated 21 Nov. 1893 and addressed to the compiler of this notice), gives the best account thereof:—"I am able to forward you a full seize of Claudine Rhédey. Dr. T. B. Witting, one of our most clever genealogists in Vienna, composed them out of Hungarian works; they are scarcely known and you would do best to publish them in extenso.<sup>1</sup> It would also be right to name Dr. Witting as the author of these Seize. The names are written in the Hungarian orthography, which must be carefully observed, but for the Hungarian christening names (Mihály, Ládzló, &c.), the English (Michael, Ladislaus, &c.) is put within square brackets. As for the families therein mentioned they are all of good Hungarian gentry of Transylvania, though there is nothing particular to be said about them. Hungary was formerly divided into counties (comitates) which were governed by the ISPAN (Comes), the UNDER-ISPAN, etc. Those who filled these dignities were elected by the nobility of the county, always for some years. It was a self-government, and the families occupying these local dignities lived far from the Court, and scarcely cared for higher rank. The Empress Marie-Therese began to tame this independent Gentry, and proffered titles of COUNT and BARON, though the self-government of the counties remained till 1848. Most of the families were, and are now, fervent Protestants (of the confession of Calvin) though they were partisans of the Turkish dominion. One of the Rhédey family [Count Francis Rhédey] was Prince of Transylvania tho' only for a few months [Nov. 1657 to Jan. 1657/8],<sup>1</sup> the Sultan having dethroned Rákóczy György (George II) and ordered a new election, when the nobles chose Ferencz [Francis] Rhédey. He, who was of another branch of the Rhédey family from those of Kis Rhéde, tho' quite a fit man for the post, had to suffer from the sympathy felt by the nation towards the dethroned Prince. Accordingly, seeing that he could not maintain his position against Rákóczy, who again took the title of Prince, he resigned, and was succeeded by Akos [Achatius] Barcsay, though Rákóczy persisted in his claim."

A third tabular pedigree is added, shewing how the Duchess of York is, thro' her mother (by descent from George III.), second cousin, once removed, to her husband, being also, thro' her father (by descent from George II.), his fifth cousin.

With respect to morganatic marriages, a very erroneous impression concerning their validity is prevalent in England. Mr. Klemme (alluded to above) writes as under (28 January 1894) concerning them: "Morganatic marriages are real marriages, duly consecrated, only they do not give the rank of the husband to the wife or children."
